Written Plan

Who's in charge if something happens to you do they have enough information to conduct the election

Compile up to date contact information (after hours contacts too!) including for

- Utility providers
 - phone
 - internet
 - power
- Disaster and Emergency Personnel
- Law enforcement

Post it where everyone can easily find it

Election Day Registration

Draft a plan for election day

- How many computers will you need
- How many registrars will you need
- What can you do to improve the logistics of EDR in your county

2016 is the 10th year of EDR in Montana.....

- whether you love it or hate it, it's here to stay
- Montana citizens should not be subject to extra long wait times on election day - the law allows them to register, and we have enough data now to plan for efficient election day registration!

Satellite Offices

Are you going to be asked to establish one?

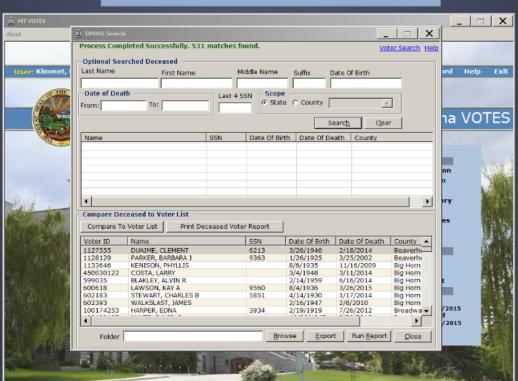

- What equipment will you need
- What facility(s) can you use
- How will you staff
- What days and hours will it be open

"Poll Worker and Machine Optimization" tool at http://web.mit.edu/vtp/

Poll Worker and Machine Optimization

Description

This tool combines recent presidential elections data averaged at the state level with research on polling technology conducted by the New York City Board of Elections to calculate the number of poll workers and machines needed to keep lines short throughout the day.

Because of these simplifying assumptions, the tool only requires three inputs: state, machine type, and number of registered voters in the precinct.

To keep wait times short during peak hours of presidential election requires:

Ballot scan machine

Check-in poll books

Since this calculator assumes state averages, add more Election Day machines and check-in poll books in precincts with high mobility (which leads to on the snot registration undates). low rates of early voting
